My dearest friends,

The death of President Kennedy was shocking to my family. India has lost a person. We admire him for his philosophy ideas and thoughts. More than that for the human touch in him. We can never forget what he has done in general for the humanity and in particular for India and its people.

My family along with all the people of India join you in praying the Allmighty to rest his soul in peace and bless his wife and children.

We love people and the Country — U.S.A.

The Comanche Hospital, Inc., 200 East Grand, Comanche, has recently completed a 4,000 foot addition to their local installation, and will hold a special open house Sunday afternoon, December 8, two to four o'clock.

The hospital, now owned by Dr. W. D. Blackwood and Dr. W. A. Flannery, was founded in 1945 by Doctors W. D. and E. E. Blackwood.

The land, located at 200 East Grand, was purchased from the late C. A. Greene, and the original hospital building was begun in the early part of 1945, and was completed in June, 1946. It is of brick construction. The original structure consisted of 10 semi-private rooms, and two private rooms.

In October, 1961 the hospital was incorporated, and became Comanche Hospital, Inc., changing the name from Blackwood Clinic & Hospital. It is an open staff hospital. Dr. Flannery and Dr. Blackwood are owners of the hospital.

New hospital facilities, recently completed, include the addition of eight new private rooms, attractive offices for the doctors. Each room now has piped-in oxygen, and suction, as well as television and telephone accomodations.

Included in the new addition is an inter-hospital "Nurses Call" system. New storage facilities, a private dining room for employees, a nurses station reception center.

Normal bed capacity is 25 with 13 private rooms. Provisions are made for an overload of 27 to 30 beds, if necessary.

To Attend Open House

Dr. W. D. Blackwood has received word from his brother, Dr. E. E. Blackwood, co-founder of the local hospital, and who is now practicing in Oklahoma City, that he plans to attend Sunday's open house—and will welcome seeing his many friends of the area.

Cotton Allotment Notices Mailed

Notices of individual farm acreage allotments for the 1964 upland cotton crop are now being mailed to farmers in Comanche County, according to William F. Bryant, Chairman, Comanche County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. He pointed out that any questions about the allotments should be taken up immediately with the ASC County Committee.

The Chairman declared that the intention is to let farmers know how the allotment program will affect their farms well in advance of the Dec. 10 referendum on marketing quotas for the 1964 upland cotton crop. The law requires a favorable vote by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in order to keep marketing quotas in effect.

Growers eligible to vote are all those farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1963.

If the vote is favorable, Mr. Bryant explained, quotas will apply to the 1964 upland cotton crop, with penalties on any "excess" cotton produced; price support to growers who comply with their farm allotments will be available at a level within the range of from 65 to 90 percent of parity.

If the vote is unfavorable, he added, there will be no quotas or penalties on the 1964 upland cotton crop, and price support to growers who comply with their farm allotments will be available at 50 percent of parity.

The first time this writer ever remembers seeing anybody from Comanche or even hearing of the town, was back in the early years of this century when I was a cotton picking teenager, attending a rural school in Parker County, possessed with the ambition to become Governor of Texas some day, a position our school history book said was in reach of every ambitious youth.

I had some success in beating some of my classmates in debate in our literary society and I thought the next step was to attend as many political rallies as I could. Hearing that the candidates for Congress from the 12th Congressional District were going to speak at Reno, a two-store trading post 3 miles from our home, I rode over to the speaking.

Four candidates took part in the debate, including O. W. Gillespie, the incumbent of Fort Worth, and Oscar Callaway of Comanche.

Callaway towered above the other candidates physically and mentally and just "eat them up" in the debate, as I saw it; so I decided that I would like to visit the town that could produce such a man.

The opportunity came some years later when I was elected to teach Latin in Comanche High School. One of the many brightest boys and girls who were in my classes was Eula Clarke, who could read Latin almost like she could English.

This introduction is to lead up to a story, not about Eula, who married Hardy Slider, but about the ten children that she and Hardy reared, all of whom are still living and are making remarkable success. The Slider children are the grandchildren of the late W. R. Slider, pioneer merchant of Comanche, and his wife; and of the late D. Charles Clarke, noted churchman and member of the Higginbotham firm, and his wife.

Upon our request, Dr. James Slider of Comanche, has furnished the following outline of what the Slider children have done and are now engaged in. If you read it through we believe that you will agree with us that it is a remarkable record.

The Durham Family

The Durham family long has been well known in the South and the Southwest, especially in Arkansas and Texas, and nearly always are among the leaders of their community. They have their opinions about the issues of the day and are not timid about stating them.

A town in North Carolina was named for the family and one of the most famous brands of smoking tobacco, when men rolled their own cigarettes, was labeled "Bull Durham."

Comanche has a unique manufacturing plant known as Durham Drug Products, which enjoys statewide patronage; and Durham Peanut Company, known around the world.

The following human interest story entitled "How Much Can A Man Stand?" was written by Carroll (Bull) Durham and involves the Comanche County Durhams, who "Bull" recently visited. The story also appeared in the Memphis Commercial Appeals. The home of the writer is Wynn, Arkansas, population 4,952.

"To Whom It May or May Not Concern:

"This year of 1963 is coming to an end and it has been full of events in my life that I will remember regardless of what happens next.

"This year started off fairly well considering a few set backs. I did not get the U. S. Marshal job for the Eastern District of Arkansas after I had worked so hard for the election of Kennedy, thinking he would be the best for president.

"Then along came the Birmingham and Jackson integration troubles and I then thanked President Kennedy for not appointing me.

"I thought he was wrong because he does not know anything about our troubles in the South. Let it be understood, that I am a segregationist by rearing and heredity.

"However I do hate the colored men just because his skin is black and I am white. I have the highest respect for him as long as he accepts his responsibility as an American citizen and gains his way of life like the white man does in the South.

"Also during the first months of this year I was 'licking my wounds' after having been defeated for Secretary of State of Arkansas.

"Many of my friends, however, said that I had accomplished something that had never happened in Arkansas in the history of state politics.

"I had no organization and no money, however, I campaigned in 75 counties in Arkansas. I traveled 14 weeks over the state and paid only 4 hotel bills:

"I had enough money given me to cover the $631.00 that it cost me to make the race. It was in April of this year that the big events started to happen.

"I was returning from Dallas on a funeral home business trip, when I hit a Texas Highway truck on my side of the road in and during the fury of a hard rainstorm. The truck had no lights. I was turned loose by the State Police of Texas who said that it was the other man's fault.

"It has been said that there are silver linings. A local funeral director, who usually are among the best people in the community, loaned me a hearse to continue my journey back to Wynne, Arkansas, as I had completely demolished my hearse.

"However, I arrived home beaten to a soreness of pain that I could hardly stand, however, I was thankful, for I could have been killed just as easily, and would have ridden in that black hearse in a different position.

"Things then began to happen so fast that I know that I will not be able to jot them all down.

"I had always wondered who my relatives were, and to my delight, I found that I came from a grandfather that had six brothers and sisters and several half-brothers and half-sisters.

"It was revealed to me that one of the Durham seed had settled in Comanche, Texas, where it sprouted out tenfold and has continued to spread.

"So I decided to return to Texas. First, I wanted to see if I could get some damage from my wreck and I also wanted to visit those newly found relatives.

"It was a very pleasant visit; however, Lady Luck struck me at Waco, while I was, as a good friend put it, trying to be a good uncle to a nephew as I let him drive for about ten miles on that Texas Highway. Consequently, I was arrested for the first time in my life and had to pay a fine of $20.50.

"I complained to Homer Garrison of the Texas Safety Department about such injustice to a tourist while passing through his state, since I had been an original member of the Arkansas State Police and had served as Assistant Director under the Ben Laney Administration.

"Homer, even had been my instructor and he educated me always to be kind to out-of-state drivers unless they were violating a major regulation.

"It appears from their ruling unless a youngster has a driver's permit, he cannot drive.

"I did not agree with that ruling, as I believe that a man must get in the water before he can learn to swim. I threatened that I would get even with the State of Texas, if it is the last thing I ever do.

"So, I tried to get John McClellan to pass a bill to redistrict the State of Texas into several states so that it would not be as large as any state touching the old Texas borders.

"I also, since my good relatives live in Comanche, and have played such an important role in the successful history of its growth, wanted to move the Capitol of Texas from Austin to Comanche, and it is still being considered by the U. S. Congress.

"I pleaded with the Texas Governor and the Highway Department to pay me damages without a trial.

"The Governor wrote me a very nice letter, saying that I would have to get permission of the Legislature to permit me to seek judgment through a Texas court.

"I said to myself, that I had an old college football mate who would turn the State of Texas inside out and I would get my damages.

"He wrote me today that he had lived in Texas 34 years and even though he had a very fine regard for me, and even admitted, that at my prime, I would have been a great tackle in this day of defense football. He said that I just came along 30 years too late.

"This friend said that he could not undertake to represent me, since as was explained by the Governor, that it would be such a long drawn out affair.

"He then advised me that the cheapest way out was to forget that the accident ever happened to me.

"I really think that is vry good advice and I appreciate it. So I offered to forget the whole thing if Baylor and Texas both did not beat Arkansas in football, but it did not turn out that way, so I think I will stay out of Te until John McCullan gets Te redistricted.

"Always wanting to know j who my relatives are, I alw have persued a continuous inv tigation in the matter and it sulted in many colorful events

"I was highly impressed w my Texas relatives in Comanc however, I have a certain sy pathy for them, knowing t they could have done even b ter if they had located in Ark sas.

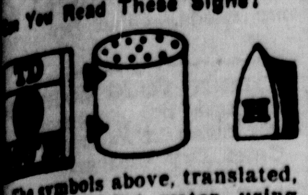
ROADSIGNS FOR LAUNDERING

n You Read These Signs?



The symbols above, translated, y "wash in hot water, using y good soap or detergent and leach.' Dry clean if you must. on with a hot iron." These articular, three symbols could ppear on a vat dyed or printed roduct — clothing or household rticle. The symbols would help ell you that vat dyed materials an be laundered along with white clothes, if you wish, since they are colorfast, and that they o not require special handling t laundering time.

These three symbols are part f a whole new symbol language or the laundry which will permit housewives to glance at sewn-in labels on clothing and other household textiles to find out the proper way to wash or clean the article. Developed by the National Retail Manufacturers Association, the Sure Care Symbols are being used by a number of leading manufacturers and more are being encouraged to use them.

You, too, can help to encourage the use of these "roadsigns" for the laundry. Next time you buy clothing or household articles look for the Sure Care Symbols. If you don't find them, ask for them — the word will get back to manufacturers who are as anxious as you are to make the Sure Care Symbols sure fire.

Here are the Sure Care Symbols, with translation — ready to be tacked up above your own washing machine:

J. H. Baskin Dies At Gustine

(Contributed)

"Life's race well run,
Life's work well done,
Life's crown well won—
Now comes rest"

James Hamilton Baskin passed away Nov. 21, 1963, in the Smith Memorial Nursing Home in Gustine.

He was born Dec. 10, 1877, to John Craig Baskin and Mary Keller Baskin, in Lancaster, Dallas County. In 1899, he was married to Margaret Townsen of Adamsville, Texas. To this union were born two sons and two daughters. He was preceded in death by his wife in 1936, and a son in 1911.

Survivors include a son, John W. Baskin, Port Arthur; two daughters, Mrs. Harmon Kemp of Lamkin and Mrs. Arthur Graves of Sillsbee; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Bart McPherson of Energy and Mrs. George Crain of Meridian.

Early in life, Mr. Baskin became a member of the Presbyterian Church. After marriage, the couple moved to Energy, where they united with the Methodist Church. In 1945, he moved to Lamkin to make his home, where he was a leader in church work and community activities.

"Uncle Jim", as he was affectionately called, was a retired railroad man. He was a man who, throughout life was active in the interest of his country, his community, his neighbors and friends.

In 1957, after being hospitalized several times, he conceived the idea of appealing to Gov. Price Daniel to set aside a special week yearly to honor Texas nurses in appreciation of their consecrated service to humanity. This was approved by the Legislature in 1959. Since that time it is observed near May 12, the birthday of Florence Nightingale.

Our School —
AS IT WAS, AS IT IS

In 1871, the Masonic Lodge took measures to provide a school building for the town of Comanche. The present lot where the Homemaking Cottage and the Gymnasium now stand was purchased. Construction was begun, but not completed until 1873, when the first session of the Masonic Academy began.

The building was a two-story structure of native stone covered by a red roof which was surmounted by a bell. The bell served as a warning for fire and a call to worship, as well as a signal for school's beginning.

The classes met on the ground floor of the building in two class rooms separated by a narrow hall. The second floor of the structure was reserved as a meeting place for the lodge which had constructed the building.

In 1874, Professor Dave Switzer came from Mississippi and was appointed as head of the Academy. He had the name changed to Institute. He and his teachers taught high school subjects as well as college courses.

Incidentally, this same rock building served as a meeting place for Union Sunday School Classes for all the churches each Sunday.

The present high school building was constructed in 1921. It has thirteen classrooms. In the basement, in addition to the classrooms, are the cafeteria, a bookroom, a supply room, a counselor's office, the school nurse's office, and restrooms.

On the second floor, one would find the offices of the superintendent and the principal and classrooms. The third floor has a well-equipped library and auditorium facilities.

There are 304 pupils enrolled with an average daily attendance of 297-plus. The average

Being Better Students

Senior English classes have been receiving helpful hint on how to become better students.

In order to make up a day of missed classwork, students choose a topic from the book "How To Be A Better Student".

Talks are given from this book to the class. A few of the many topics to choose from are: "Why Become A Better Student?", "How Can You Get Ready to Study?", "How Can You Best Prepare For and Take a Test?" or "How Can You Remember and Understand Better?".

The purpose of this system is not only to encourage the students to attend all classes but to teach them how to improve their their study habits.

The Rev. Truman E. Bennett performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length wedding dress of white satin, reembroidered with Chantilly lace. Her veil of tulle was attached to a crown of pearls. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet consisting of an orchid accented with small white mums.

Miss George Ann Scott was maid of honor. Bill Davis served as best man. Organist for the ceremony was Miss Marguerite Ross.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Parish Hall of St. Matthew's.

Honored With Shower

Miss Parsons was honored with a bridal tea-shower November 23 at the home of Mrs. W. D. Blackwood.

Co-hostesses were Miss George Ann Scott, Mrs. Kyle Barret, Mrs. Jack Riley, Mrs. Jack Gore, Mrs. John Braziel, Mrs. Weldon Turner, Mrs. C. G. Fritts, Mrs. Carrol Loudermilk, Mrs. T. A. McDonald, and Mrs. Thelma Jean Morrow.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Blackwood and presented to the honoree; her mother, Mrs. Percy L. Parsons, and Mrs. Clyde Sibert, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

Miss Sandra Blackwood registered the guests in the bride's book which was placed by an arrangement of baby mums on a crescent shaped pearl base.

Assisting with the serving and displaying of the gifts were Patsy Nell Salter, Cheryl Braziel, and George Ann Scott.

The bride's table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums in a crystal bowl. Streamers of blue with Ginger on one and Garry on the other extended from the arrangement to the sides of the table.

"I have always wanted to be Bear's assistant coach for one day, especially if Alabama plays Texas in the Cotton Bowl. I don't know whether or not Bear will consent to this arrangement. However, I have an offer from Bear that I can be the editor of the new magazine they may publish some day and I will enjoy doing so very much.

"Since I had gotten involved with the Governor of Texas and the Governor of Alabama, I had to settle an old sore spot in my system with Governor Faubus.

"A confession is good for the soul. I supported Faubus in his first race, but when the story of the Commonwealth College was brought out, I quit him. But I went back to Faubus and have voted for him in the last 3 elections.

"As I have been saying this year is just about gone and there is something wrong when we are 26 inches behind in rainfall.

"Go squirrel hunting and you cannot get closer than a mile to your prey. I went for a one-day deer hunt. The dang buck jumped out right in front of me and I had buck "edgar" so bad that I must have missed it the first shot and I knocked it to the ground the second shot with a slug. The third shot must have gone over it when it went to the ground. It got to its feet and ran off up the mountain side.

"With my barrel empty two more deer jumped up right in front of me and for once I was glad that the barrel was empty as I might have killed one of them and both were does.

"Old Frank ran the does to the right and old Lady took after the one I shot and ran it completely out of finding range. So rest assured that you know who will eat that deer before long.

"One more mention of football, my favorite sport and past time. I just don't know what is the matter with my home town high school team. They can't win a game although some of their men are bigger than those of Alabama or Arkansas.

"Arkansas has been a complete disappointment to me. No excuse for Baylor beating the Hogs. Then at Houston, Rice took advantage of the breaks and won. Then in Big Dallas it happened again when the Methodists "sprinkled" them with passes. Boy, it is just as said in the beginning, 'How much can a man stand of this?'

"My old belt selling millionaire friend, Whit Stephens, has been trying to call me cousin ever since he found out that my grandmother's name was Stephens.

"U. S. Senator Tom Allen, my good friend, took sick and died. He and I slep on a mattress on the concrete floor at Batesville trying to cut down on living expenses. Losing a friend like Tom takes the 'pep' out of you.

"Senator Nathan Coulter however, came to my aid long ago and helped me whip two brothers who jumped on me at Lockesburg when I was in the second grade. The fuss started over a marble game. We cleaned their plows. Now word comes that Nathan has just passed away. It is strange how these old memories will come back after all these years.

"So as I said before, let us hope that this string of bad luck will pas saway and let us alone at least for the present. If many more of these exciting times come up in my life this year, which is nearing its close, I doubt whether I will be able to weather another storm.

"Who knows but what the year of 1964 may be the best year we have ever had and Arkansas may whip every team in the Southwest?

"I still say that it is good to be alive so we can tell what will happen in 1964."

Yours respectfully,
Carroll (Bull) Durham,

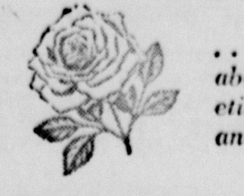
MISS DEB



... answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interest...

Q. The boy I go with has good looks, intelligence, a good personality, and my parents like him. This is a problem? You bet! His idea of a date is spending an evening at my house watching TV and talking with my family. The home scene is fine — but not as a steady date diet. How do I get him to take me out?

A. What's needed here is the shock technique. Before your next date, get busy and secretly line up a program for the evening that doesn't call for a big cash outlay. Budget problems might be behind his preference for home-style dates. Plan on going for a walk, meeting the crowd for a soda, or stopping to visit friends. Then when he arrives at the door, greet him with a cheery "Hi! Let's go!" . . . take his arm and steer him to the outside world. Results guaranteed.

Q. How can I break the nail-biting habit? My resolutions to let my nails grow never last more than a few days. I need a plan that's foolproof.

A. The only foolproof method is to fool yourself. First, treat your nails as if they really were long and lovely. Even if they are down to the quick, manicure them carefully and apply nail polish. Its color and gleam makes you more nail-conscious . . . quickens your resolution to stop biting. The second part of the plan is to notice what you do, what bothers you, during nail-biting sessions. Maybe it's when you study, or when you're caught up in a TV show. At these critical times, slip into a pair of gloves so you can't slip back into the habit. (A lavish application of hand cream under the gloves makes these sessions pay extra hand-some dividends.)

Q. When I'm out on a date, how do I introduce my escort? "My friend" sounds too casual. But "my steady" . . . or . . . "my boyfriend" sounds like I'm ready to tie the knot. How can I be correct, but not committed.

A. In making introductions, never call a date by any other name than his own. "I'd like you to meet Jack Jones" is both correct and safe. Wait until you can say "my fiance" before you give your escort a title.

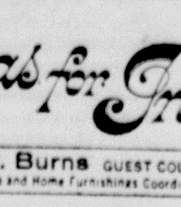
Ideas for Interiors

by John P. Burns GUEST COLUMNIST - Director of the Interior Design Studio and Home Furnishings Coordinator of Gimbel's, Pittsburgh.



Rooms with an Elegant Look

There is much ado today in the interior designer's world about something called "living elegance." But what, exactly puts "elegance" into a room? It can be found in rooms with a serene Japanese flavor, in a home with a rustic Early American charm, in a drawing room reminiscent of Old England, in a home of the sleekest modern design. Elegance, then, is not of an age, but of a feeling — an elegant room must be warm, friendly and gracious.

The particular style and mood desired by the designer begins with the walls. The rest of the room then grows. Lamps and lighting play a key role, both as a decoration and as a source of adequate illumination or as a subtle means to focus attention on an area, a portrait or picture. Floorcoverings are important and must be compatible with the wallcovering, the upholstery fabrics used in the room, and with the draperies and window treatment. Lastly, but certainly not least, the furnishings and accessories should be carefully chosen to enhance the decor and to provide the comforts and relaxation we desire in our homes.

There is today an endless and fascinating selection of wallcoverings, furnishings and accessories for every taste and expression. With this array of creativity available, every room in our homes should be exciting or relaxing, as the spirit moves. In the twinkle of an eye (or almost) a long, dull and narrow hall can be turned into a Persian garden, a Venetian terrace, or a Roman forum; or if history is too distant, perhaps a jolly English pub or a New England Inn.

With carefully selected wallcoverings, most well-planned rooms can almost stand on their own. I have seen a drab, uninspiring but well-scaled room glow like an Oriental jewel or glitter with high Renaissance splendor . . . all because of the right choice of beautiful and suitable wall treatment. The budget consciousness we all face today can make the cost of decorating a studied investment, a thing for the whole family to enjoy. A dividend today is the washable surfaces available that little Johnny, with his jam-and-mud-stained hands cannot damage. Another is the wide assortment of treated upholstery fabrics which are almost impervious to spills and stains . . . from which spots can be wiped off without leaving telltale stains. Another is the wide variety of floorcoverings which combine both decorative aspects with utility and low-cost of installation.

The resourcefulness of the home furnishings industry has given today's homemakers a tremendous selection of decorative and livable accessories and furnishings, which truly can be the means of giving us homes of "living elegance," and low-cost decorating need never lack good taste or good design.

Young Homemakers, Young Farmers Observe Thanksgiving With Banquet

By Young Homemaker Reporter

The Comanche County Young Homemakers and Young Farmers observed their 4th annual Thanksgiving Tuesday November 26 in the Comanche High School lunch? room.

The tables were covered with white clothes, green streamers adorned the tops. The head table arrangement was of gold, brown and rust chrysanthemums with auttmn leafs and pyracantha berries adding the final touches. The autumn color scheme was carried out on all tables with leaves and pyracantha berries in small arrangements.

Approximately 45 Young Homemaker and Young Farmer members plus their guests were served a Thanksgiving feast, Turkey, dressing, ham and all the trimmings had been prepared by the Young Homemakers and advisors.

Mrs. Mary Moore of Stephenville brought greetings from Arear IV and advisors of the Young Homemakers organization.

Other guests recognized at this time were Mrs. John Humphury of Frinia, Texas; Bro. Joe Wolf of Gustine, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Johnson of Gnustin and Tony Price of Dallas.

The group was extremely honored to have Ed Bush of Texas Cotton Ginner's Association as Quest Speaker of he occassion. Bush's topic on Russian Agriculture was accompaned by slides taken on his recent Soviet tour. It was very interesting to note the Communist way of farming, manufacturing processes, living facilities, education and labor in general. The group was astonished at the lack of progress the Soviet Union is making. And futhermore we are held to believe that most we hear of the Soviets is propaganda.

We as Americans are proud to live in a country where freedom is at hand. Our country can only be what we make it. But great or small God gives it all. Thanksgiving is a time to be humble before God for the apportunities He has broughta to us. Let us as Americans go forth with God's help to make this World a better place to live.

Area Excellent For Recreation Says Conservationists

By John Simpson
Soil Conservationist

The Cross-Timber Area may develop into the heart of Texas recreational area if proper facililities are offered.

A few district coopratoгs are including recreation as income producing in their conservation plans. The Cross-Timber soils make good places for shades and good drainage for picnic areas, campsites and grounds for baseball or other sports. The fence rows of brush and other vegetation make good travel lanes for quail and other wildlife. With the adaptability of the soil to a wide range of natural plants, trails for nature study could be developed.

Since the construction of Proctor Lake, Brownwood Lake and Lake Leon and the development of the small watersheds on Rush Creek, Blanket Creek, North East Tributitaries of the Leon, Green's Creek and the Bosque, there will be lots of room and selections for fishing, camping and water sports.

This area is located within 3 or 4 hours drive from cities east, south, west and north where 95 percent of their population go somewhere annually for a few days vacation. Farmers and ranchers wishing to develop facilicities for additional farm income can receive technical assistance from the Upper Leon Soil Conservation District.

A few district cooperators already have included this in their plans are: H. C. Ablin included recreation enterprises of Campsites, picnic area, and pony trails on his farm located near the park on south side of Proctor Lake.

The plan includes roads thining and pruning a wooded area and a farm pond. The remainder of the farm will be sodded to coastal bermuda for pasture. O. L. Fritts has devoted a part of his farm on the lake front to lots for lease. Fisher Reese, Joe B. Lee have lots layed out to sale for recreation purposes.

As the small watershed programs are completed there perhaps will be many more. Which could add materially to the farm family income and that of business alike. Then erosion will be less on land used for recreation than crops.

Young Farmers To Hear Talk On Safety Tuesday

By John Hester, Reporter

The Comanche County Young Farmers Chapter will hold its monthly meeting December 10, beginning at 7:30 in the Vo-Ag building.

The program is to be "Highway Safety with Farm Equipment", presented by Jerry Kyle, safety patrolman of Waco. his program is timely because of the upcoming heavy holiday traffic. It will be started to acquaint all the driving public with the hazards involved in slow moving machinery along the highway with the high speed of present day traffic. This is a phase of driving that must be understood by both the farmers and the general driving public. Understanding the rules and obeying them with substantually reduce loss of life and property, which are at alarming levels at the present time.

Kyle will present the program through a series of slides covering all angles of traffice safety. A member of the local Highway Patrol will be present to assist.

The policy of Young Farmers Chapters is to present programs that inform and challenge. Every one interested in this program is urged to attend.

Of special interest to Young Farmer members will be the final plans made for this groups participation and attendance of the forthcoming State Convention to be held in Austin, January 3-4.

DO IT BETTER Electrically!

DRY CLOTHES flamelessly!

"Nothing I know of, Martha, would ever make washing and drying clothes fun, but my new electric dryer sure makes it a lot easier!"

If we could listen in further on this conversation, we'd probably hear a lot of good things about drying clothes the flameless electric way. Virginia will tell Martha how nice it is to be able to dry anytime, not just "weather permitting." Martha will hear, too, about the time-and-effort-saving advantages of an electric dryer . . . no more fumbling with clothes pins, no more struggling with baskets of wet, heavy wash.

P. S. to Virginia: Don't forget to tell Martha how much easier ironing is with clothes dried the flameless electric way.

Combine to Win 4-H State Honors

A showman of champion beef cattle and swine from Lubbock, and an outstanding 4-H junior leader from Corpus Christi are winners of Lone Star State 4-H achievement awards.

Don Meador, 17, whose Hereford and Black Angus steers raised in 4-H projects have won many ribbons, and Dorsey Ewing, 19, winner of the Texas state leadership award last year, were named recently by the Cooperative Extension Service for the achievement honors.

Miss Ewing

Meador

The National 4-H Achievement program, sponsored by the Ford Motor Company Fund, aims at developing leadership talents and a broader knowledge of 4-H agricultural and home economics projects.

Meador, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Meador of Lubbock, is a nine-year 4-H veteran of projects in beef and dairy cattle, swine, electricity, grain sorghum, cotton, tractor maintenance, home improvement, poultry and recreation. In 1961 he and his sister Judy won Lubbock County Gold Star awards.

Miss Ewing is a blue ribbon winner in county and district dress revues. In addition she has a long list of achievements in leadership at local through state levels, and participated extensively in various 4-H events.

As state leadership winner last year, "my real dream came true," she said, because she attended the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

The 10-year 4-H member, who plans a career in home demonstration and 4-H leadership, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris B. Ewing of 5837 Hampshire in Corpus Christi. She attends Del Mar Junior College.

FORT HOOD, Texas (ahtnc)—Army Staff Sergeant Chester L. Hayes, whose wife, Margie, lives in Harker Heights, Texas, is participating in Operation BIG LIFT, the largest transoceanic Army-Air Force deployment ever made by air. The exercise began Oct. 22 and is scheduled to end in late December.

Sergeant Hayes and other members of the 2d Armored Division were flown from bases near Fort Hood, to bases in Germany where they drew heavy equipment from prepositioned stocks. The men then joined other U. S. troops will turn in its equipment and return to the U. S.

The exercise is a demonstration of U. S. military ability to reinforce NATO forces through airlift of a U. S. based division to Germany and link-up of this division with combat equipment positioned there.

Hayes, a liaison sergeant in Headquarters Battery, 1st Battalion of the division's 14th Artillery at the fort ,entered the Army in 1958 and was last stationed in Korea.

The sergeant is a 1954 graduate of Comanche High School.

CATHOLIC NOR PROTESTANT

The word "Bible" comes from the Greek word "biblos" and simply means, "'book". With the definite article "the" preceding it, biblos becomes more than just "a" book; it i now "THE BOOK". Just to speak of "The Book" is enough description for almost anyone to realize that one is speak ing of "The Bible".

Another term used to indicate the Bible is "The Scrip tures". The word "scripture" ALWAYS means "that which is written".

Many statements have been made about the fact tha the "written" word, the Bible, was not commanded or auth orized by God. All such statements are false.

Most everyone will agree that certain men, in particula the apostles, had divine guidance in their speaking, bu many will deny the power of the written word. But notic 2nd Peter 1:20-21. "Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture (that which is written) is of any privat interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old tim by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Grost." Notice: the speaking of these men by divine guidance (Holy Ghost or Holy Spirit became scripture (that which is written).

WHERE DID IT COME FROM?

Peter tells us that these holy men of God received i by the Holy Ghost and wrote it down for us. ALL the Apostles had power to reveal God's word. "Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatso ever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." (Matthew 16:19 and Matthew 18:18). Some think that these men passed certain laws in religion and after they had passed the law, God recognized it in heaven. But they have completely reversed God's order. Even Jesus, the son of God, did not pass his own laws. "Jesus answered them and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me." (John 7:163. Even so, no man, apostle, preacher, pope, or counsel, has ever received power to pass laws in religion. To the apostles Jesus said, "Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear that shall he speak—" (John 16:13). "—for it shall be given you (the apostles) in the same hour what ye shall speak. For it is not ye that speak, but the Spirit of your Father which speaketh in you." (Matthew 10:19-20). Then the apostle Paul testifies in Galatians chapter one, verses 11 and 12. "But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man. For I neither received it of man neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ."

So you see, by the Book, that even the apostles, men of God, were simply agents to bring to lost mankind, you and me, the word of God, the gospel of our salvation. When they wrote it down it still had all its power for it came from God. When it was written down it became "scripture". Notice 2nd Timothy 3:16: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God—". Remember, scripture is "that which is written."

Now, where did the Bible, the Book, the Scriptures, come from- Not from the Catholic Church; not from the Methodist, Baptist or any other protestant church; and not from the Masonic Lodge. The word of God came before every one of them. First spoken—then written, but the same word, and it came from God through the apostles as the Holy Spirit gave them utterance. "Holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost."

If you will drop us a card, we will be happy to send you a handsome Book Marker. We welcome your questions and comments and invite you to our services.

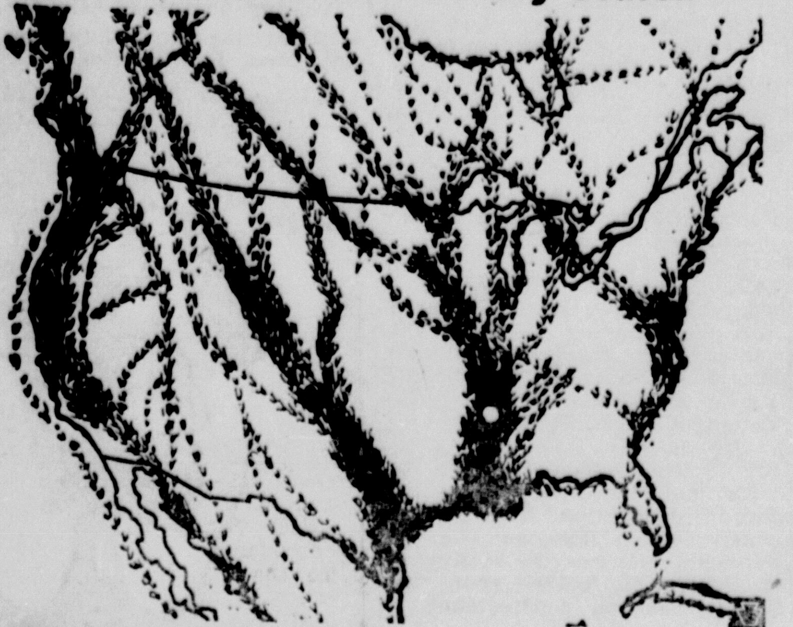
Duck Hunters Set For Big Season



The four major flyways followed by ducks as they migrate from Canadian nesting grounds to southern winter homes are (right to left) the Atlantic, Mississippi, Central, and Pacific flyways.

More ducks and more liberal regulations are in store for the nation's duck hunters this season.

According to the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior, longer seasons or increased bag limits in all flyways are a direct result of an increase in waterfowl production during the summer.

A restricted season last year plus improved water conditions in the important northern nesting grounds in Canada led to the increase in duck population.

Claiming the title of duck hunting capital of the world is Stuttgart, Arkansas, in the heart of the lower Mississippi flyway (white dot in the map above). It is the focal point for hunters throughout the country each November and December.

A three-day trip for two to Stuttgart during the peak of the season and two Remington automatic shotguns are the first prize in a sweepstakes contest being conducted by Friskies Pet Foods. Twenty of the new Remington shotguns will be awarded to other winners, and all entries will be given free a Friskies dog feeding bowl. Entry blanks are in supermarkets and grocery stores.

Becky was chosen a Booster-Band Queen the first of the year. She is now representing the Boosters for the Christmas season. Becky attends school in Comanche. She is having her first year in school. Becky is a little Pentacostal girl. She loves to sing and she loves to play. Becky is a pretty girl, a nice little Booster and a sweet little friend, Jesse says.

While we are little
It is great to know
Though we are little
We can grow and grow.
But when we are grown
We shall find out then
That we must dwindle
'Till little again.

That is nature's way,
It just has to be,
It flows and it ebbs
Like tides of the sea.
If God's living word
Is fixed in the soul,
In it we can grow
While ages shall roll.

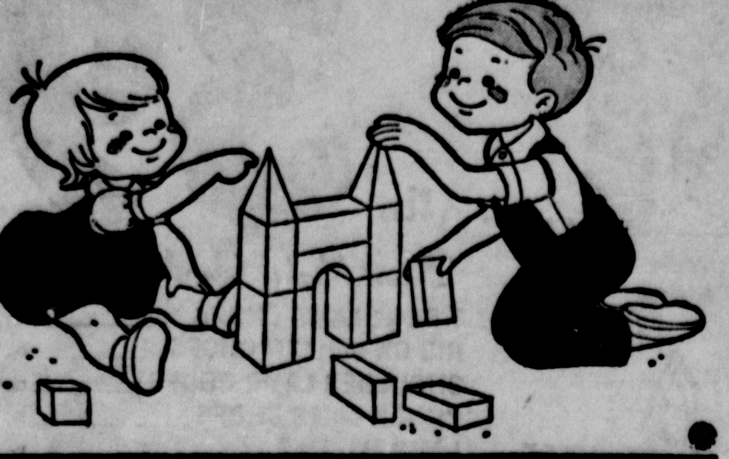
Food Sense ■ Not Nonsense



All the Blocks a Child Can Use

Building blocks are more than playthings for Baby Jamie and fast-growing John-John. They can be the nutrients in food called amino acids. Readily at hand is a way to develop for infants and toddlers a new and economical food, custom-made from wheat, which contains all the building blocks a child needs to grow and develop—and nearly all the other nutrients to boot. The schematic for this food has been drawn up by research; at the American Institute of Baking in Chicago, on the amino acids in wheat's proteins.

Dr. William Bradley, scientific director of the Institute, has suggested that nutritionists can put into action this schematic for feeding infants and children. At a recent nutrition conference in California on the Role of Wheat in the World's Food Supply, he reported that the milling process sifts out certain wheat flours with an especially high nutritional value. Being concentrated, these flours contain a substantially higher amount of the building block, lysine—apt to be short in cereal grains—than does the wheat berry itself. With cooked cereals made from these flours, infants and toddlers would satisfy their higher protein and lysine requirements, he proposed.

That traditional wheat foods materially meet the nutrient requirements of older children and adults is history. As the major food of large population groups, grains made civilization possible. Wheat had all the building blocks man needed. In light of America's food export program to underdeveloped and hungry nations, the value of wheat takes on added significance. The contribution that bread and other cereal foods can make here and abroad is being studied, recognized, and appreciated.

Incentives Help Make Best Better

U.S. business firms contributed $1.25 million in 1963 toward recognition and encouragement of the nation's 2,225,000 4-H Club members, the director of the National 4-H Service Committee has announced.

Norman C. Mindrum, director of the committee, said the record figure made possible awarding of college scholarships and fellowships valued at $145,000. They were presented this year to 275 of the nation's most outstanding 4-H youths and to young adults who once were 4-H'ers.

The financial support also was used for more than 180,000 other awards to members of the nation's more than 94,000 local 4-H Clubs. The clubs are in about 3,100 counties in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

The national committee, headquartered in Chicago, utilizes the funds to assist the Cooperative Extension Service advance the 4-H program.

Awards Since 1900

"Awards are an integral part of 4-H," Mindrum said, "and have been provided as incentives and recognition for young people since the early 1900s."

Help from 57 business firms now backing 4-H dates back in some cases to the 1920s. The average tenure for all donors is 16 years.

The scholarships, nearly all for $500 each, were awarded Dec. 1–5 during the 42nd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, attended by more than 1,500 delegates. Their expense-paid trips, considered both educational and cultural, were awarded by more than 30 of these firms.

Funds for programs ranging from bread baking to entomology are channeled through the 4-H committee, incorporated in 1923 when a handful of business firms provided $3,400 to help the growing club program. In the last 10 years alone, the number of county medals awarded has increased from about 85,000 to nearly 180,000.

"Each donor has an interest in boys and girls, an appreciation of the need for youth development and a feeling that the organization can serve 4-H in a wholesome manner with limited self-gain," Mindrum said.

Diversified Support

Among the business firms supporting 4-H in 1963 are American Forest Products Industries, Inc.; American Oil Foundation; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway System; California Chemical Company—Ortho Division; Cities Service Oil Co.; Chicago and North Western Railway Co.; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Co.; The Conrad Hilton Hotel; Chicago Board of Trade, and Cudahy Packing Company.

Also Elgin National Watch Company; General Motors; Heisdorf & Nelson Farms, Inc.; Homelite, a division of Textron Inc.; Humble Oil & Refining Company; Illinois Central Railroad; International Minerals & Chemical Corporation; Livestock Conservation, Inc.; Massey-Ferguson Inc.; Moorman Mfg. Co.; The Milwaukee Road; Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation; Edward T. $38,500,000 Paid In GI Insurance

More than $38,500,000 has been paid in GI insurance dividends to those Korean Conflict veterans who exchanged or converted their "RS" insurance policies by the deadline date of September 13, 1963, the Veterans Administration reported today.

"RS" was the identifying designation given to the term insurance issued during the Korean Conflict.

More than 570,000 veterans collected their dividends before the expiration date of September 13, 1963, ended further payments, Glyndon Hague, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco said.

Under provisions of a bill signed into law by the President on September 13, 1961, Korean Conflict veterans were given an opportunity for two years from that date of obtaining a special dividend by exchanging "RS" term policies to a lower cost term policy or converting them to a permanent plan of insurance.

Mr. Hague estimated that approximately 68,000 veterans still hold "RS" policies. Although they may no longer obtain a dividend, they may still exchange their "RS" policies for "W" term policies that cost one-third as much or convert them to any one of six choices of permanent plan insurance.

Little stuffed dolls and animals that children love to cuddle soon lose their new look. But it's easy to keep them fresh and clean. Only foam rubber stuffed toys . . . or toys firmly packed with cotton batting may go into the washing machine. To clean others, make a thick suds in the basin, swish the toy around or rub it lightly with soap suds, using a soft brush or sponge. Then rinse in clear water, shake well and pat dry with a towel.

After HE Pots 'em, YOU CAN, TOO!

My husband Joe came home last weekend grinning from ear to ear because he'd bagged his limit of ducks that morning—but feeling a wee bit disappointed because all of them turned out to be older ducks, which are often a touch too tough for grilling or roasting. This is a duck-lover's dilemma I've learned to solve, however. Li'l Wynnie came to the rescue with a recipe that's just perfect for older ducks and coots. It's called Potted Wild Duck. This dish is easy to prepare, highly nutritious, and makes a delicious meal of ducks that otherwise might have to be discarded.

Fill cavities with your favorite stuffing or with orange sections and celery, or with apple quarters and onion slices. Sew and truss. Sprinkle with flour, brown in ¼ to ⅓ cup fat in fryer or Dutch oven, add ¼ cup hot water. Cover tightly and simmer or roast in slow oven (3000° to 325° F.) for 1½ to 2 hours, or until tender, turning occasionally and adding small amounts of water as needed. Remove birds and make gravy from drippings.

Serve this with mashed turnips, spinach, crisp relishes, hot biscuits and a tart jelly, and yummm! — the ducks taste like youngsters, and the diners act that way, too!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to express to each individual, our profound appreciation and gratitude for every kindness shown us in our recent great loss of our husband and father; for each visit, telephone call, get-well card, and words of encouragement during his lengthy illness; to the nurses and doctors, for every kindness and effort during his short hospitalization; to Mr. and Mrs. Porter Franks; to each one who brought food and to each one who contributed to the beautiful floral offering; and a special thanks to the Fireman who sat. A mere 'Thank You' sounds so inadequate. May God bless you and if the occasion arises in your life, may you be blessed with such wonderful friends. — The Family of G. N. Burkett. (1tp)

Comanche Cagers

The Comanche Indians dropped their first basketball game of the season Tuesday night—taking a convincing 52-34 beating at the hands of the Eagles in Goldthwaite.

The Indian Maidens, playing their best defensive game of the season, scored a 30-17 decision over the Goldthwaite lassies. All the guards used by Coach Roger Oliver throughout the game, played good ball.

Consistent shooting by Dorothea Byrd, Nan Henson, and Sandra Coan was the difference in this low scoring tilt.

The Braves, B team of the Indians, showed signs ahead of things to come, as they dropped a 29-20 verdict to the Goldthwaite B aggregation.

First Loss For Indians

The Indians, in their first two outings, scored decisive victories over Eastland and Gatesville, but ran into tough opposition in a hustling Goldthwaite quintet on Tuesday night.

The Indians fell behind in the opening quarter, and led only for a couple of minutes in the third quarter. Here the Indians, after trailing 22-20 at the intermission, went out in front, and at one time stretched the lead to 27-23 margain. But from there on in, it was Goldthwaite all the way—as the Eagles knotted the count, then went on to broaden their lead.

Led by a couple of small guards—Ratliff and Seay, who scored 19 and 18 points respectively, and getting good rebound strength and lay-ups from their center, Auldridge — the Eagle quintet, playing their first game of the season, were impressive. They whipped the Indians on some good outside shooting, and fast breaks which resulted in a number of easy lay-ups.

High scorer for the Indians was Fletcher, center, with 15 points, with Shumpes having 9. Rounding out the point-making for the Indians was Williams 4, Salois 4, and Elliott 2.
